

YOU ARE WELCOME AT TANTUR

THE TANTUR EXPERIENCE

You may be a member of a religious community or organization, a scholar in theology or history, a student of business or diplomacy, or simply moved by the mysteries of the Holy Land and its peoples. Tantur strives to offer an overall integrated, enriching experience in the Holy Land which encompasses:

- Opportunities for archaeological study tours and on-site lectures to deepen your understanding of biblical texts and Church tradition
- Study of the texts and times of the Bible
- Paths to a better understanding of fellow Christians who have long lived in the Holy Land—opportunities that range from use of a superb library to the sharing of study, worship, and recreation
- Getting to know the “living stones” of the land—Christians from various traditions, Jews, and Muslims
- Touring the most important holy sites in the region
- Opportunities for scholars to shape for themselves special periods of research and collaboration in their own disciplines

Depending on your time and goals, Tantur may offer what you are looking for. You may wish to take a sabbatical that best suits you, spend time exploring the Holy Land, or use Tantur as base for scholarly research.

THE JERUSALEM EXPERIENCE

Jerusalem is a mosaic of cultures and nationalities, of peoples and neighborhoods, interesting architecture both old and new. It is a patchwork of religions with a vibrant character. Its churches, mosques, and synagogues reflect the varied and rich history that this city has experienced and it is easy to immerse oneself in the sights, sounds, and unique beauty of the Old City. Christian, Muslim, and Jewish traditions intermingle and contrast throughout the city, reflected in the wide array of architectural styles, artwork, traditional dress, and culinary delights of this historical gem. Be amazed in Jerusalem.

LECTURERS AND GUIDES

More than a dozen experienced teachers—drawn from different religions, continents, and backgrounds—are an integral part of the Tantur community experience that can transform your perceptions. These educators help people better understand the Holy Land, while bringing faith and reason into play in unique journeys of personal development.

PROGRAMS AT TANTUR

- Scholars Program
From one month to one academic year in duration. Tantur welcomes scholars from around the world to enhance their research and collaboration in disciplines such as theology, biblical studies, church history, and interreligious dialogue. Our library is one of the largest in the region.
- Continuing Education Programs
One-month, six-week, or three-month sabbaticals designed for those wishing to experience life in the Holy Land. Our programs encompass courses in biblical studies; guided field trips; study of Jewish and Islamic thought and life; insight into the social, political, and religious situation in the Holy Land; and the practice of ecumenical and interreligious relations. There is also free time for personal study, reflection and exploration.
- Easter Encounter
Three-week program offered at Easter; designed as an extended educational pilgrimage focusing on the land and the Abrahamic faiths and the celebration of the Christian feasts of Holy Week.
- Conferences and Customized Programs
Tantur frequently partners with church organizations and academic institutions to provide educational tours, retreats, and conferences. We are able to provide full use of our campus to fit the needs and interests of many diverse programs in a holistic, welcoming atmosphere.

COSTS

There are different cost structures for different programs, but prices, while subject to change, are kept reasonable. Some financial assistance may be available in special circumstances. Please visit tantur.org for current pricing structures.

REFLECTIONS FROM TANTUR

“Tantur provides a wonderful setting for scholars wanting to pursue their own research with its excellent library and research facilities, as well as access to regional libraries. But Tantur offers so much more. It opens up many avenues for exploration—ecumenical, interfaith, archaeological, biblical, and opportunities to reflect on the contemporary political situation in the context of a stimulating and diverse community.”

DR. MARY TANNER, U.K. Ecumenical Theologian

“There is no land more precious to me in the Holy Land than that hilltop called Tantur, where I found the movement of God’s presence so genuine and so alive. My three-month sabbatical there remains to this day a wellspring of joy.”

REV. DR. J. STEPHEN PEROTTI, Nampa First Christian Church

“The conference rooms, dining hall, and gardens of Tantur provide a safe place for discussion and reflection. Many scholars, politicians, and practitioners have found the ability to reach across cultures, religions, and seemingly hardened lines of argument in this special place.”

MARTHA MERRITT, Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, University of Notre Dame

TANTUR

ECUMENICAL INSTITUTE
JERUSALEM

AN OASIS OF LEARNING,
COMMUNITY, AND HOSPITALITY

TANTUR: ON A HILL IN JERUSALEM, NEAR BETHLEHEM

The Tantur Institute for Ecumenical Studies is beautifully situated between the historic cities of Jerusalem and Bethlehem and serves as a welcoming place in the Holy Land for visitors from all over the world, including:

- Scholars in a variety of disciplines
- Teachers, students, and conference attendees
- Individuals seeking sabbaticals for a variety of reasons
- Spiritual sojourners of all Christian faiths

Founded in 1972, Tantur offers programs of continuing education and spiritual renewal for:

- Clergy and members of religious communities
- Laity seeking enrichment in the land where Jesus lived and taught
- Scholars

With access to a library containing over 70,000 publications and 400 journals, this research facility is one of the largest theological institutions in the region, offering visitors the opportunity to study in an enriching learning oasis.

THE ESSENCE OF TANTUR

It is difficult to capture the “Essence of Tantur” in a few words. What is special here is the opportunity to live in community with other members of the Christian family. Our participants may find themselves alongside people from many faiths and lands. Your stay at Tantur might mean living and learning with a British Anglican biblical scholar, an Australian Catholic, a Romanian Orthodox seminarian, a South African pastor, or any other number of individuals of varying denominations and nationalities. An incredible spiritual community emerges as we eat, study, pray, and travel to many of the holy sites located throughout this historic region.

OUR AIMS

- We seek a broader and deeper understanding of each other’s faith and traditions, ethics and social witness, liturgies and pieties.
- We explore the relationships between Christians and peoples of other world faiths, especially Jews and Muslims.
- We participate in the search for world peace and justice, through theological study and exploring human rights and conflict resolution in different religious and social contexts.
- We seek to understand the rich religious and historic landscape of the Holy Land through numerous field trips and visits to holy sites.
